

Program Interruption Statement

This statement is to state interruptions on my honours research project caused by the COVID-19 pandemic. For the entire semester, I can only stay in China because of the travel ban. In the order of decreasing severity, the interruptions include:

1. In the last semester, I used to have weekly face-to-face meetings with my supervisor, Dr. Qing Wang. However, this semester we could only have online voice meetings. My research topic is about using a neural network model to solve a graph matching problem, efficient discussions on this topic require a lot of drawing and illustrations of problem-related concepts and model design.
2. I cannot access Google and other firewalled website for resources. I have bought VPNs yet still, website such as Google citations rejects my access request because of “suspicious activity”.
3. I use Overleaf to write my thesis online. However, it is frustrating to use because the server randomly disconnects and reverts my work.
